To Whom It May Concern:

The PTO in our district recently sponsored Keith Dunn to spend the day in our school, delivering Internet Safety assemblies to our students in grades three through eight, as well as following up with an evening program targeting adults and what they can do to ensure their children's safety in our modern, digital age. The programs were well received and so needed in the scary new world in which our children are growing.

Keith is an excellent speaker and an experienced performer who had no trouble identifying with his audience and "speaking their language" so that they listened to his every word with total attention. He definitely got his message across while being entertaining and not turning off the kids. Hopefully, his valuable advice got the students thinking about just how vulnerable they really are while using all of these great new tools and toys on the internet.

An added bonus during the parent program was a live demonstration of just how easy it is for an innocent 12-year old girl to be victimized by a sexual predator in a chat room. This final point had those who attended the program rushing home to immediately monitor their children's electronic devices to find out just how much of this they were actually doing.

In all, Keith provided our district with a much needed wake-up call to students and parents alike about how easy it is to become a victim of online dangers. His program would be beneficial to everyone.

Sincerely,

Joseph H. Miller
Superintendent/Principal
